

Professional Liability

The Commercial General Liability wording specifically excludes allegations made due errors or omissions in plans, reports, surveys, drawings, opinions, reports, recommendations that professionals make...

Sometimes when we talk to new clients who are researching insurance due to a contractual requirement, we have ta a more difficult time as some people underestimate the importance of Errors and Omissions coverage. My thoughts are that, even if the allegations are groundless, can you afford the cost to defend the possible allegations?

CISG considers that we have expertise in the special needs of Professionals. If you have any questions about Professional liability exposures to your business, or would like a Professional Liability quote, do not hesitate to "Collis".
